MARTIN HOLM

Through a process of collecting, extracting, and connecting, Swedish artist Martin Holm creates his own artistic language which rejects classification. By carefully composing a wide range of historical and fictional motifs and elements the artist is allowing the familiar and the mysterious to merge.

Holm's attention to detail in his creative process resembles the practice of landscaping: where meticulous arrangement of the ornaments is complemented by their power of self-growth. Using colour and form as his main instruments, the artist creates artworks pulsing with chaos - where exciting angles and broken perspectives captivates the viewer.
